

BEVERIDGE PRAISES BIBLE REVISIONISTS

Talks at Celebration of Fiftieth Anniversary of American Version.

FEARS RELIGIOUS LOSS

Hopes for Spiritual Revival to Meet Problems of the Day.

HARDING SENDS MESSAGE

Hughes Also Wires Calling Citizens to Appreciation of Revised Scriptures.

Albert J. Beveridge, former Senator from Indiana, was the principal speaker last night at a celebration in the Belk Presbyterian Church, 412 Fifth avenue, of the fiftieth anniversary of the first meeting of the American Bible Revision Committee. This committee, which completed its work twenty years ago and gave to the world the American version of the Holy Scriptures, held its first conference at the Bible House, Astor place, on October 4, 1872.

Several members of the original committee were present at last night's rally, and there were delegations from many universities and theological seminaries. Dr. John H. Finley, who presided, read a batch of telegrams and letters containing greetings to the gathering. A telegram from President Harding said:

"Thank you for calling my attention to the gathering in honor of the group of American scholars who devoted their efforts to preparing the American version of the Scriptures. I cannot but join in your expression of the hope that the occasion may serve to direct public interest and attention to the Bible as an eternal source of inspiration and idealism in our day by day life."

Secretary Hughes wired: "This work is not only a permanent memorial to American scholarship, but a lasting contribution to civilization in promoting a better understanding of the Scriptures, the unflinching support of righteous conduct in individual and civic life. These American revisers deserve to be held in the highest honor by their fellow countrymen."

Beveridge's Address.
In his address, Mr. Beveridge spoke in part as follows:

"Religion is an indispensable element of all real and enduring human improvement, and it is a serious question whether, with all our churches and church services, this divine and vital force is not declining—even disappearing."

"Yet it is to be gravely doubted if the welter of desperate problems that press upon and distract us can be solved or even understood without a profound and informed spiritual awakening."

"As a cold matter of practical public policy, it is extravagant to declare that the treatment required by the whole world at this very hour, is an elemental, genuine and enduring revival of the religion of Jesus Christ—a revival which, with holy spiritual fire, will burn from human hearts the base impurities which to-day, seemingly at least, curse all mankind."

"Yet in spite of our obsession of material things; in spite of the unrelenting hurry of this era of speeding automobiles, plunging trains, hastening ships and flying planes; in spite of the whirl of lost motion in our high pressure period—in spite of all these non-spiritual forces the great revival has won and is winning its way more solidly and rapidly than any version that has gone before. It is already in use in nearly all American colleges, universities and theological seminaries; in Sunday school publications of most leading denominations; a large majority of educated preachers, the number of whom steadily increases, have adopted it."

The Advance of the Day.

"Notwithstanding the shallow influences of present times humanizing progress has gone forward. Above all else civilization means tolerance, and the advanced tolerance of Christian people is shown in the contrast between the treatment accorded the scholars we now honor and those who did like service in former times."

"If during the lives of those who made this latest and best revision of the Bible little attention was paid to them and small appreciation of them shown; if the finished product of their labors won no applause at first, but received instead peevish complaints at least they were not denounced as heretics, physical martyrdom was not visited upon them, and now that they are dead their bones are not dug up, cursed and thrown with maledictions into running streams."

"This was the varied fate of the most eminent of those who of old strove successfully to give the Bible to all the people."

Arthur C. McGiffert, president of the Union Theological Seminary, which supplied two members of the committee, sent the greetings of the faculty. Among the other well wishers were Charles R. Brown, dean of the Divinity School at Yale; Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; Elmer Ellsworth Brown, chancellor of New York University; Edwin Wilbur Rice, honorary editor of the American Sunday School Union; James H. Ropes, professor of divinity at Harvard; J. F. Cousart, national chaplain of the Gideons. Most of these institutions of learning had representatives on the committee.

Dr. William I. Haven, secretary of the American Bible Society, presented a Bible to Dr. Rufus W. Miller, who received it in behalf of the Philip Schaff Memorial Committee, which is erecting a memorial building in Philadelphia in honor of Dr. Schaff, organizer of the American Bible Committee.

Among the members of the anniversary committee in charge of the celebration last night were the Rev. Harry L. Hawby, Bishop Frederick Burgess, Dr. R. Parke Cadman, Dr. Harry E. Fosdick, Dr. Leighton Parks, the Very Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, Suffragan Bishop Herbert Shipman, Lawrence P. Abbott, A. C. Bedford, C. R. Fulton Cutting, Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis, Ivy L. Lee, William Fellows Morgan, Dr. John R. Mott and E. H. Oakesbridge. Women signers included Commander Evangeline Booth, Miss Virginia C. Gilderale and Mrs. William Fellows Morgan.

ST. ALPHONSUS'S CHURCH HOLDS DIAMOND JUBILEE

Archbishop Hays Celebrates Mass at Seventy-fifth Anniversary Services and Many Old Time Parishioners Gather From All Quarters.

Archbishop Patrick J. Hays celebrated the diamond jubilee anniversary mass at St. Alphonsus's Roman Catholic Church, Canal street and West Broadway, yesterday in commemoration of the founding of the parish seventy-five years ago.

Former members of the parish from all over the city and nearby places attended the mass, which marked the opening of exercises which will last two days.

St. Alphonsus's parish was founded in 1847 as an offshoot of the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer on West Third street, and was organized for the convenience of Catholics living in what was then "downtown." The present edifice, surrounded by warehouses and business buildings, was built in 1870. The first was a small brick church which was soon outgrown, due to the influx of Irish and German Catholic immigrants shortly after it was built. These immigrants, settling on the lower West Side, made the parish one of the largest in the city. For the occasion of the jubilee exercises the old church structure was newly frescoed in red and gold. So many desired to attend the mass yesterday it was necessary to make the admission by ticket.

The present rector of the church is the Rev. Francis Gallagher, C. S. R. The church and school connected with it are under the direction of the Redemptorist Fathers, the church being named for the founder of that order.

Bishop John J. Dunn was present at the mass, as were a large number of priests formerly connected with the church, or who were reared in the parish. An address detailing the history of the church was delivered by the Rev. Arthur Coughlan, provincial of the Redemptorist English speaking priests in Canada. He was born in the parish and first preached there. He preached the anniversary sermon on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the church and so was asked to attend at this anniversary.

MILLER ASKS CITIES TO HELP NEAR EAST

Urges Mayors to Inaugurate Campaign for Funds This Week.

ALBANY, Nov. 26.—Appointment of committees of citizens and promotion of a fund campaign culminating in a mass meeting on next Sunday, to meet emergency needs in the Near East, is requested of Mayors of New York State cities in a letter from Gov. Miller made public today.

Distress of an appalling magnitude threatens multitudes in Greece and the islands of the Aegean Sea, the Governor declared, and he requested cooperation with the American Red Cross and Near East Relief to provide effectually and speedily for those who, fleeing their homes before the soldiers, face hunger, disease and death and the ravages of winter without proper clothing and shelter.

"The machinery is in operation for raising a Near East emergency fund," said Gov. Miller, "but the proportions of the suffering which calls to us are such as to urge an extraordinary effort. The President of the United States, I am informed, will issue on November 28 an appeal, and I am, therefore, asking you to appoint a committee of prominent citizens in your city to raise funds for this emergency during our Thanksgiving period, their efforts to culminate in a mass meeting of citizens on the afternoon and evening of Sunday, December 3. I would also request that you add your own appeals to the sympathy and benevolence of your fellow citizens, to the end that our country's response may abate nothing from the glory gained by past efforts to mitigate the great disasters which from time to time befall humanity."

A strong remonstrance against the failure of the United States Government to demand of Turkey complete protection of the lives of all Americans within her borders was voiced in a telegram sent to United States Senator Wadsworth of New York yesterday. The message was signed by more than a score of such prominent men as James W. Gerard, Samuel Gompers, Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Bishop Charles H. Brent and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton.

"Let us hope this nation will not pursue a policy where commercial interests triumph over the true spirit of humanitarianism so dear to every American," the telegram read in part, "nor refrain from declaring as unequivocally for human rights at home and abroad as it has for property rights, nor fail to make clear that it will withhold diplomatic relations from nations which permit wholesale slaughter of racial, political or religious minorities within their borders. If international intercourse is withheld in order to protect property rights, how much more incumbent upon us is it to hold human life sacred for the defenseless."

"In following Jesus we have his own promise: 'Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.'"

APPLIES GOLF SYMBOLS TO CHRISTIAN LIVING

New Jersey Rector Dwells on Need of "Following Through."

The Rev. Francis H. Richey, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Maplewood, N. J., in his sermon last night utilized golf as a simile of a Christian life of service.

"In golf we learn first the need of following through, which means that to the end of our intent must go the whole of our being," he said. "We select our companion to go and play a game and prepare with joy for the contest. We have learned what should be done to make a successful match. The principles of the game we know, that is, what to do. The question is how to do it. In our minds is the dominant thought, follow through."

"In following Jesus we have his own promise: 'Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.'"

RUMMAGE SALE AIDS CHARITY.
A substantial sum has been added to the treasures of the Children's Welfare Federation and the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital as the result of a rummage sale held last week under the auspices of the two organizations. Mrs. F. J. Fox was chairman of the joint committee, which included Mrs. H. H. M. Lyle, Mrs. Edward Franklin, Jr., Mrs. Joseph J. King, Mrs. Blinford Thorne, Mrs. Robert Perot, Jr., Mrs. John Jackson, Mrs. Thomas Curtin, Jr., Mrs. William H. Dalsell and Mrs. Eugene F. Traub.

HERRIN TRIALS DELAY BANKRUPT COUNTY

Bills Paid With Orders Not Good Till Tax Time.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald.
MARION, Ill., Nov. 26.—The taxpayers of Williamson county are grumbling because of the delay in selecting a jury for the Herrin massacre trials. They say the trial so far has cost $3,000 to $4,000, and that the jury selection alone will cost about $150 a day.

The county can't pay the bills, and is issuing orders which can be discounted through the banks, but which are not worth anything in the County Treasurer's office until tax paying time. It has been charged that the defense was attempting to delay the trial as much as possible so as to force the expiration of the four months' period and thus release the other four prisoners held without bail because of inability to give them a trial. The defense denies this.

Judge D. T. Hartwell said he would call in another judge and start another trial, in a church or theater, if necessary, to there could be no miscarriage of justice or technical evasion of the law.
